Pioneer teacher honored

It is more than seventy years since Florence McDonell rang the bell for her first day as a schoolmistress in a small prairie schoolhouse near Drumheller, Alberta. It is just one year short of a quarter century since this stalwart educator taught her last class, as the Principal of Elk Point Elementary School. During the more than four decades spanned by her teaching career, a vast number of students learned their 'three r's' under her tutelage.

Last Saturday, May 26, a number of those students, including Liz Grasser of Spokane, Washington, whom Mrs. McDonell taught at the Greenvale School near Fort Pitt in 1924, Melvina

Carlson Young, a student at Mooswa School, which was located at the present site of Lindbergh, near the end of the 1920s, and Bernard Zarowny, one of her Elk Point students who came to the gathering equipped with an apple for the teacher, were among the crowd of well-wishers on hand to help this gracious lady celebrate her 90th birthday.

Mrs. McDonell was born at Kettle Falls, Washington on May 15, 1900. She went to college in Lewiston, Idaho, before coming to Canada. After teaching briefly in a school near Drumheller, she attended Camrose Normal School. Following several years of teaching at Fort Pitt and Mooswa, she married Elk Point's first grain buyer, Eugene McDonell in 1929. Following the birth of the couple's two daughters, Ann and Marie, Mrs. McDonell returned to teaching, often walking to her school at Shamrock Valley, north of Elk Point. She later taught in Elk Point, where her teaching career ended with her retirement in 1966.

Former student Melvina Young reminisced about the days when the then Miss Lewis was her first teacher at Mooswa. Mrs. Young said that school had "the best softball team," organized school fairs, and constructed a beautiful float one year for a parade in Elk Point. "We worked so Today's the day - Participact!

Got your sneakers on? Then let's kick up our heels, Elk Point—today is the day for the nationwide Great Participaction Challenge! Canadians coast to coast will take part in at least 15 minutes of exercise which increases their heartbeat, and then phone in to their local Participaction headquarters to register their activity. In Elk Point, call the Community Services Department at 724-3800.

What is there to do today? Well, you can enjoy a free round of golf, courtesy of the Elk Point Golf and Country Club. You can explore the tree lined hiking trails at the Town's recreation land. (See the maps at the trail heads or on Page 2 of this issue). You can gather at the Co-op parking lot from 11:45 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. to see the Elk Point Elementary School Skipping Team in action, and to get in line for the Book Balancing Race from the Co-op parking lot to the Elk Point Public Library. You could win a free year of library membership! Juice, courtesy of the Elk Point Participaction Committee, will be served at the parking lot site during this time.

Don't forget to take your oldest, grimmest, grungiest sneakers to the Elk Point Community Services Office (in a sealed plastic bag, labeled with your name and phone number, please) for the Stinky Sneaker Contest. Deadline is 5:00 p.m. today. The ripest pair of all will win their owner a new pair of footwear, so he or she can really kick up their heels.

The fun won't all be over today, either. Don't forget to come out to the Rec Land ball diamond No. 1 tomorrow evening at 7:00 p.m., when the Town of Elk Point takes on the Town of St. Paul. In 1988, St. Paul's Deputy Mayor was trundled around the diamond by Elk Point Mayor Byron Mann after a one-run loss to St. Paul. Last year, St. Paul Mayor Paul Langevin received his team's just desserts—a cream pie in the face—from Mayor Bruce Kleeberger, after the Elk Point win. This year's the tie breaker, and we can hardly wait to see what fate awaits the losers of this challenge!

Community Services Centre

Town looks toward Plan "B"

Plans for a new Community Services Centre were shelved at the May 14 meeting of Elk Point Town Council, but the need for a facility to house the Playschool, Parent Nursery and Community Services offices has not been forgotten. The leaking roof and structural deficiencies of the present structure would need considerable expenditure to be brought up to an acceptable standard for continued use, Council was told at Monday's regular meeting. "Council must address the need for an alternative," emphasized Councillor Adele Mandryk, who later became one of four members on an ad hoc committee to determine what moves to take in that regard. Councillors Louis Verhagen, Lawrence Pidluzny and Charlie Mahon also volunteered to sit on the new committee.

Council also studied problems dealing with decaying street surfaces, both on an immediate and a long term basis. Areas for heavy truck parking which were designated earlier this year included the block of 49th Avenue between the Elk Point Fire Hall and Highway 41, and it has been discovered that the surface on that thoroughfare, and on 49th Street between Railway Avenue and 49th Avenue, cannot handle the heavy traffic. Effective immediately, heavy traffic will be banned from those two blocks until further notice. Council agreed that the other designated truck parking areas, on the north side of 50th Avenue and on Railway Avenue, are sufficient to fill present needs.

Upgrading of street surfaces and replacement of utility lines on 51st to 54th Avenues also came under consideration. In the neighborhood of $ 219,000 is available in grant funding, on a 75-25 split for construction and a 50-50 split for engineering, to do this type of work, but this amount would be sufficient for only a portion of the needed work, Mayor Bruce Kleeberger said, and "won't solve all our problems." The grant in question is available until March of 1995. The Utilities Committee will contact Stanley

Engineering and Associates to discuss the Town's concerns and to investigate how best to proceed without incurring engineering costs at this time.

A location suggested by the Utilities Committee for development of tennis courts is too small for the 108 by 120 foot courts, Council was told. This was referred back to committee for further measurement of the site.

Council agreed to expand the capacity of the Town's mobile radio communications network. A second channel will be installed, giving Public Works and the Fire Department separate channels to operate on. Public Works would also have access to the Fire Department Channel if the need arose to use two at once.

Drainage problems in the Tags parking lot were again discussed. The proprietor has indicated he would not be in favor of sharing the cost of an overlay of paving with the Town. Therefore, the Town will go ahead with the project at the municipality's expense, provided that the owner of the property is willing to submit a release prior to construction, releasing the Town from any further responsibility or obligation connected to this matter.

A contract which will allow satellite day homes to operate in the County of St. Paul under the jurisdiction of the Elk Point Community Services Department was approved by Council.

Sgt. Barry Kutryk of the Elk Point RCMP Detachment visited Council to introduce himself to the group, and told them he is "committed to working with Council." He told Council there is a movement afoot in the RCMP to get representatives of the community involved with policing. "We depend on the community to tell us what the priorities are." Elk Point presently has 7 members on staff, one of whom is in training for the coming six months, Sgt. Kutryk said. Mayor Kleeberger commented on the "tremendous long term relationship" which has resulted in "our needs well served by the local Detachment."

Problems with weeds and caterpillars were discussed in the Question Period portion of the agenda. The Town does not spray weeds, and has not done so for more than a decade. Instead, the offending plants are mowed on lands under the control of the Town, with this process now underway. Mention was made that it is up to each individual to maintain the boulevards in front of property under that individual's control. Caterpillars do not pose an imminent threat in Elk Point, but Council provided for control to be put in place if the situation later warrants it. Mayor

Kleeberger will keep in contact with administration and public works departments for updates on the situation.

Elk Point Golf and Country Club has agreed to provide wash-room facilities for ball players on a temporary basis until the concession equipped with wash-rooms is built. Signs indicating this will be installed at the ball diamonds to alert the players to this availability.

Elk Point's Town census is underway, and should be completed by June 8.

Take A Hike!

The Town of Elk Point has developed a network of hiking trails on the tree-shaded slope north of the Elk Point Golf Course. The trails cross Atimoswe Creek via a wooden bridge, a beaver dam and a rock footpath. Take along your camera to capture the glory of spring in the forest.

Car show goes Saturday

Calling all fans of beauty on four wheels—Elk Point Auto Club's annual Show and Shine is scheduled for this coming Saturday, June 2, in the A. G. Ross Arena, from 1:00 to 7:00 p.m. Up to 70 vehicles are expected to be on hand to please the eye with their sleek lines and bring back memories of days gone by, when these classic conveyances were hot off the assembly line.

This will be the third car show in as many years for Elk Point. The first, in the fall of 1988, was originally scheduled to be a special attraction for the Elk Point Agricultural Fair, but torrential rains on Fair day delayed the event until mid-September. At that time, taking no chances with the weather and holding the event in the arena, the Elk Point Agricultural Society hosted 30 vehicles and over 225 visitors to the inaugural show. Viewers voted as their favorite a sparkling white 1957 Thunderbird hardtop owned by Albert Pankratow of Lloydminster, which was displayed with a silk scarf fluttering from its radio antenna and a stuffed fox curled up on its hood.

During and after that first show, considerable interest was shown in forming a car club in the district. Larry Demchuk and Ken Astill were instrumental in getting the Elk Point Auto Club underway, with their initial 10 members including former St. Paul Car Club founder Mike O'Neill. Since then, membership has climbed to 38, with members from as far away as Wainwright and Edmonton. Jim Andrichak is the 1990 President.

The Auto Club held their first show in June 1989, with close to 40 vehicles drawing an attendance of over 350 people. The show was divided into Antique and Show categories, with Larry Demchuk's gleaming grey 1933 Ford coupe chosen as the most eye-catching antique and Daniel St. Arnault taking the Show trophy back to Mallaig for his much-modified 1949 Mercury pickup.

Among the vehicles expected to roll in from other localities to take part in Saturday's show are one or more Edsels owned by former Elk Point area resident Gary Fakeley. Fakeley, who now lives at Ardrossan, has the largest collection of Edsels in Canada, including the only Canadian-owned examples of some models.

Visitors from Henry's Haulers, an Edmonton club devoted to 1953 to 1956 Ford trucks, the Edmonton Hot Rod Club and the Edmonton Studebaker

Club are also scheduled to take part.

Make sure you are on hand to see this lineup of the classic cars and trucks of yesteryear, along with some of the customized creations of more recent vintage.

Quarter century for Elk Point 4-H

This Saturday's Achievement Day for the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club will mark 25 years of 4-H in the Elk Point area. Former leaders and members will gather, along with their counterparts from today's club, to reminisce about the old days and to explore the ways 4-H has changed over the years.

Five years ago, the club celebrated their 20th Anniversary with a mammoth, day-long 4-H Homecoming. Invitations were sent to everyone who had been involved as a member or leader in the days since the founding in 1965, and well over a hundred 4-Hers and former 4-Hers showed up to enjoy a pancake breakfast, opening ceremonies, old-fashioned games and races, a Chinese Baseball game, a giant anniversary cake, and a buffet supper followed by messages from special guest speakers. There was even a fashion show of 4-H shirts over the two decades, with appropriate music from each era to go along with the different styles and colors of shirts.

At that banquet, 4-H Clubtime television show host Bob Coe told the club "You're over the hump now. You're a mature and grown up club and will carry on despite the hassles." A letter from Regional 4-H Specialist Adele Reichert added the assurance that "the first 20 years are the hardest."

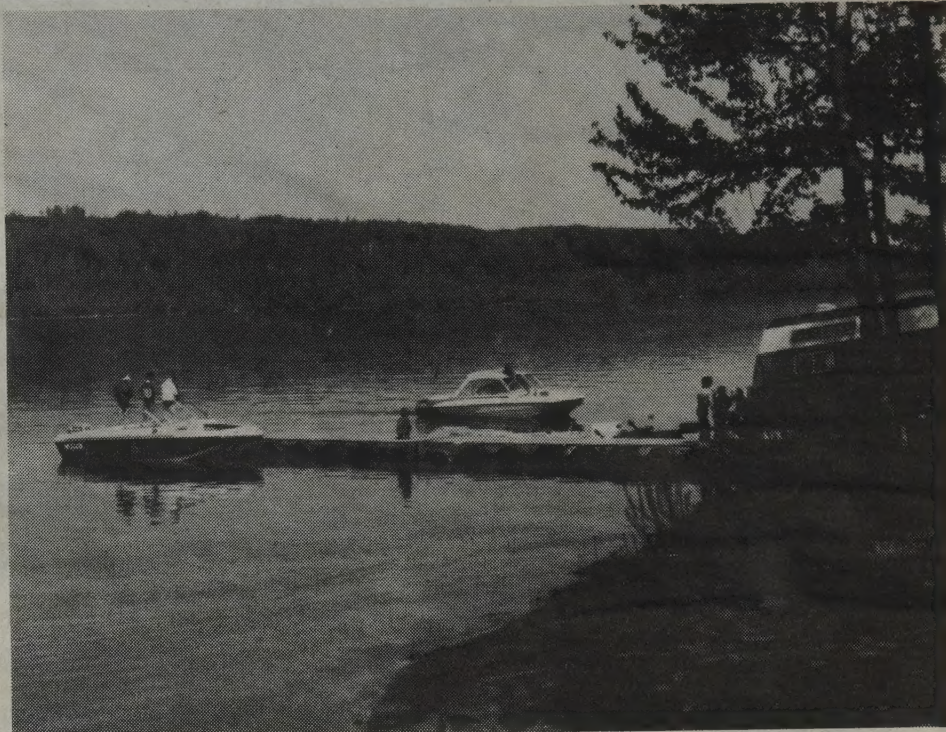

In the five years since that time, the club has continued to grow, with a diversification into a multi club, at times featuring such projects as woodworking, photography, sewing, cooking, crafts, home decorating, self determined, pheasant raising, and junior leadership. Another 4-H club, the Elk Point Saddle Slickers, has sprung up as a sister organization.

The members of yesteryear have not forgotten 4-H. Some have children of their own involved in 4-H, either locally or in other areas where they now reside. Others are looking forward to the day when their children are old enough to take part. Many are or have been involved as leaders.

4-H isn't something you grow out of. The lessons, not only in livestock raising, but in public speaking, communication and cooperation last a lifetime. So do the fond memories - muddy jeans from washing and breaking calves, show day runaways, ironing shirts and loading calves at 6:00 a.m. on interclub show morning, and all.

4-H has given a lot to Elk Point over the past 25 years, in the form of worthy and upstanding young citizens, community involvement and ambassadorship. Let us, the people of Elk Point and district, give the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club, our heartiest congratulations on their silver anniversary, and wish them the best of luck as they reach on toward their gold.

Alberta Trails

Tis the season to be mobile

By Irene Magnusson

Along about mid-May, when the trees have come on green, when the lake ice is long gone, when the western breeze is soft and fragrant (no matter which direction it comes from); why, there comes over people from this mid-part of Alberta a powerful urge to 'get on the road.'

All sorts of visions will dance in our heads. We see miles on miles of open road, winding over the hills and plains, along fields and meadows, through spruce groves, or jackpines, roads straight, broad and smooth-paved; road, still straight but dusty and not so broad; other roads, mere trails, perhaps winding and rutted, lumpy, even with mudholes. Once the vision hits, it doesn't matter what sort of road we will trace, just so long as it has that bit of gleaming blue at the end of it. We crave the open waters of our lakes.

This is truly the start of the 'summer season' regardless of what the calendar says. Surely, many are tied to desks and jobs and schools, but just let a weekend show up, and those campers, motorhomes and what-have-you start to roll.

Out in the country, where the farmers live, they are not so calendar-conscious. If the calving is over, if the seeds are in the soil, if the garden is planted, wheels will roll. Some might linger long enough to mow the lawn, prune the shrubs, do in the dandelions, but not all.

The fishing rods will be given a check, the lure-box opened or rattled, to be sure the right stuff is in there. If the boat was good last fall, all it will need is a shot of oil and gas, a quick check of life jackets and oars, the drawpins shot into place and a loving pat.

Open road, here we come!

It may be for only an evening on the water, not too far from home. It may be a couple of days, snatched from the world of work, worry and hassle. It could be off to weeks of life in the campsites of our Alberta. A few fish will be caught, but really only a few compared to the vast assortment of hooks, lures, baits and dreams thrown into the H2O of our lovely lakelands. These fish, once caught, will not be nearly as big as our dreams demand, not nearly as abundant as once we knew.

Unfortunately, our lakes are becoming smaller. As the water seems to diminish year by year, the width of shore from water to bank grows wider, the depth less and less, which makes less water for the fish to live in, less deeps for them to hide in down below the cold of winter, perhaps less food for them to thrive on, too.

Due, perhaps, to the scantier snowfalls we've had for the last fifteen or so years, and the scantier rainfalls as well, the water table seems to have shrunk considerably. Many long-standing sloughs have disappeared, becoming only mud flats. Creeks are often so scrawny as to be only dried-up ruts by early summer. Part of me wonders if all the holes punched in the ground (oil wells, gas wells, seismicographic punctures, salt wells, etc.) have perhaps caused openings for the water to leak through, down into the very centre of the earth, from which it will never be recovered.

Is it too late to worry about such things? Certainly, someone should consider it. It would be so sad to think there will one day be no lovely lakes to flock to, when summer sidles in, some spring.

Many who flow down the open roads to the lakes do not come equipped with boats or canoes. They will still have their go at catching a fry or two of fish. We see them standing at the water's edge, or on a pier, rod in hand, faithfully flailing the ripples, casting and winding endlessly, and sometimes they are successful, too.

Others head for the parks and lake-shores for other reasons. The joys of outdoor eating are shared by many, whether it's a ready-packed sandwich and a can of pop, or an elaborate barbecue, complete with smoke, steaks, salads, coffee, beer, the works. Eating in the great outdoors, under whispering pines, the scent of water and moldering weeds intermingled with the smoke from coal or wood, with a few ants or gnats for company, has an almost irresistible attraction, shared by most people. I'd say we wouldn't want to do it right along, but once in awhile, off to the lake and an eat-out ... great fun, right?

A duck into the chilly waters will attract a few hardy souls, and (when I was a kid, we were told 'anytime after May 24th') once under water, it feels warmer there than out of it. The young can stand this better, I think. I always used to charge right in; now I wouldn't be caught dead in the cold waters of a lake. Except my feet; I can still wade along the shore, if I can find a sandy stretch.

Many of our lakes have lovely parks, with tables, playgrounds, shelters, piers, access roads and parking lots. Overhead, the same mewling gulls soar and dip, waiting for our scraps of food. I suppose the pelicans, cormorants and blue heron have returned from their southern winters, ready to nest and fish in their section of the lakes. My son Mel, at Fairview, said there were about 500 swans on a small lake there, for a few days. They have nesting grounds near there.

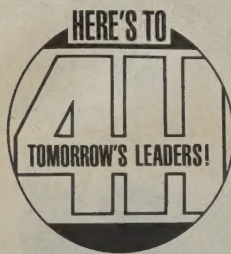

Fatuously, I hereby declare Alberta's Trails to be officially open, for the 1990 road-runners, the fisher-folk, the picnickers, water-babies, sand-diggers, shell-pickers, water-skiers, sailors and rowers. And, just maybe, I'll join you.

Seniors get federal funds

A new spirit of giving

Learn to do by doing

By Yvonne Love

Regional 4-H Specialist

I came across this poem and would like to share it. Achievement Days are just around the corner!

There once was a boy who won ribbons red and blue
Came home from the fair with a big trophy, too
With a voice loud and proud he said to his Dad,
"Tis the very best year in 4-H that I've had!"

Said his very wise Dad, "Son, I'd like to hear,
Why do you think this was such a very fine year."
"Why, Dad, you well know all the prizes I've won;
How I've come out on top in most things I've done."

Just look at the ribbons that hang on my wall,
And think to the money I've made since last fall
From premium checks and a big auction price
You can't help but think cash and ribbons are nice."

But the man said, "My son you're not thinking right
Blue ribbons, 'tis true are better than white
But ribbons will fade and trophies grow old
Money's soon spent and fame soon grows cold."

The important things, Son, are not ribbons or pins,
And sometimes it's really the loser who wins.
Now here are things most important, it's true
Your 4-H experience has accomplished for you.

You've seen how a business meeting is run.
This knowledge will help you in years yet to come.
You've conquered the fear of addressing a crowd.
You've learned how to stand up and talk nice and loud.

Patience you've learned in your projects, too.
As well as your skills that will always help you.
You've learned the fine feeling it gives you to lend
A glad helping hand to a stranger or friend.

You've learned to cooperate with majority rule,
To give in with grace and not be a fool
Who must always have his very own way,
Be it club work, in school or at play.

You've learned how to lose, without making a "beef",
You know how the judge judges to his best belief.
You've learned how to win without boasting too loud,
A kid can lose friends if he's overly proud.

These are the things most important to you,
You'll remember and use them all your life through.
They'll help you become a mighty fine man,
They'll do more for you than a prize ever can.

50th Anniversary

In honor of Leonard & Norma Berg's 50th Wedding Anniversary, their family cordially invites you to an OPEN HOUSE to be held at the King George Hall (4½ miles south of Elk Point) on Saturday, July 7, 1990 from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. No gifts please.

Canada Day

One month and counting down

With just 31 days to go, Elk Point has plans for their 1990 Canada Day celebration well underway.

A dance and beerfest on Saturday evening will kick off a full schedule of events. Fireworks are tentatively planned to usher in Canada Day at 12:00 midnight.

Sunday, July 1, starts early, with participants in the Elks Lodge's Raft Race launching their craft far upstream at Myrnam Bridge at 6:00 a.m., in the early dawn, hoping to arrive at the Elk Point Bridge at approximately 9:00 a.m. That way, they will have worked up a fine appetite for the Chamber of Commerce Pancake Brunch, which goes from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. An ecumenical worship service at the Canada Day stage, with scripture readings, prayers and musical offerings by various local churches, is also being planned for Sunday morning. A horseshoe tournament will get underway at 11:00 a.m., under the direction of the Royal Canadian Legion and the local Horseshoe Club.

Soap Box Derby races have been suggested, to take the place of the bed races, which have seen declining popularity over the past few years. The Lioness Parade (still lacking a marching band at press time—anyone having suggestions please let the Canada Day Committee know) will go at 1:00 p.m. Floats, antique cars and other entries from neighboring communities are welcome to take part.

Then it's back to the Canada Day stage at 2:00 p.m. for the arrival of the color party of clubs and organizations, greetings from a variety of VIPs, and the cutting of the Order of Royal Purple's giant birthday cake. An afternoon of entertainment which will feature Edmonton's Blue Norther Dancers as well as local singers, dancers, the Elks' Pie Eating Contest, whistlers (?) (!!!!) and possibly even poets, will follow.

Games and entertainment for the children are being planned by the Elk Point Oilettes, while a variety of adult games are also in the planning stages.

To bring Canada Day to a perfect close, a barbecue supper with all the trimmings will be served in the arena for a nominal fee.

It sounds like a great day of entertainment for the whole family. Mark your calendar now, and be sure to be in Elk Point for Canada Day 1990.

Seeding well underway

Warm weather over the past two weeks has allowed wheat seeding to be completed, along with 40 percent of the oats and canola and 50 percent of the barley. Wheat acreages are down 5 percent from last year, due to the late start on seeding, while both oats and barley are up 5 percent. Anticipated acreages of canola and summerfallow remain at last year's levels. Moisture conditions are currently good on both summerfallow and stubble, but high winds are drying the land significantly.

Pioneer teacher

hard, but Mrs. Sumpton's class won," she recalled. She remembers Mrs. McDonell as a firm believer in discipline. "Not one of us would disobey her. The boys used to hide her strap but she only asked once and it was brought back. We listened and obeyed, because she had won us over—the great big boys were like mice."

When Mr. McDonell appeared on the scene to court their pretty teacher, the students at Mooswa hated to see her go. "I asked Mr. McDonell to go back and look after his elevator, and told him he could have her on weekends but we needed her during the week," Mrs. Young said. However, the students could not sway the course of true love, as Mr. McDonell was determined to take their teacher as his bride.

All but two members of the family which resulted from this union was present to wish their mother, grandmother and great-grandmother the best on her 90th birthday. Daughter Ann Napper of Edmonton and her husband Wayne have four children, sons John, Jamie and Patrick and daughter Adine Heidebrecht, who is the mother of great-granddaughter Ashley. Daughter Marie Buck and her husband Ed of Elk Point have one daughter, Cathy, and two sons, Jeff and Eugene. Eugene and his wife Juanita have a baby son, Alexander. Cathy was unable to be present in person for the gathering, but sent a videotape of her wishes from London, where she is employed this summer. Patrick also sent his grandmother special wishes for her special day.

Each of the grandchildren contributed to the program with their fond reminiscences of the part their grandmother has played in their lives. Daughter Marie Buck told the audience how her mother had become deaf while attending Camrose Normal School, but had taught nonetheless, overcoming her handicap with determination. "When Mother had her hearing restored in 1962, she found the world was a noisy place," with such sounds as jet planes and refrigerator motors shattering her long life of silence. Mrs. Buck thanked Mrs. McDonell's former students for their patience in dealing with their teacher's handicap.

Mrs. Buck also thanked the ladies who helped with arrangements for the afternoon, including Helen Marcenik, who made and decorated the attractive birthday cake, Virginia Mudryk, who created the traditional Ukrainian Korovai with its 90 tiny birds painstakingly crafted from dough, Myrna Fedorus, "another right hand," Lena Stepa and Bea Williams, who "have always been there," Alvina Schuhmacher, Evelyn Babcock and the ladies of the OORP who helped with lunch preparations. "You're all so special."

Son-in-law Ed Buck read congratulatory messages from Governor General Ray Hnatyshyn, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, Lieutenant Governor Helen Hunley, Premier Don Getty and Member of Parliament Deborah Grey. MLA John Drobot's greetings included a poem dedicated to "A Great Pioneer Teacher" and a pin from the Province. A plaque was received from the County of St. Paul, under whose jurisdiction Mrs. McDonell had taught for many years. Another plaque came from the Town of Elk Point, and was presented by Councillor Morris Cooper.

Special guests in attendance included Mrs. McDonell's 94 year old sister Myrtle Perry of Calgary, and nieces Maxine Griffin and Liz Grasser, with husband Art, all of Spokane. Mrs. McDonell's other siblings, Hazel, 99, of Spokane, Edrie, 85, of Calgary, and Peter, 82, of Penticton, were unable to be present for the occasion.

Community Services

Seniors' Day plans

Much work is being done for the Seniors' Day scheduled for Friday, June 8 from 3:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. at the Pioneer Circle. In previous editions attempts were made to attract senior citizens to the cause. Now, because many seniors have agreed to have demonstrations or displays of various things, including making Ukrainian Easter eggs, water witching, and puzzle making, hopes of attracting other members of the public are high. This, however, does not mean that any interested seniors who would like to have their own demonstration or display should be wary of contacting Community Services. The more seniors that are at the Seniors' Day to provide valuable information, the better the day will be.

Many interesting topics will be discussed at the informal Senior's Day Open House. The Open House will provide a chance for the people of younger generations to gather some of the wisdom that senior citizens possess. The open house will not have a set agenda, thus allowing people to see those things that interest them most. There will be time for displays to be viewed and questions to be answered.

We are hoping that many will attend the Seniors' Day, both because many younger people will be able to gain more knowledge, and because the seniors of our community will be recognized and honoured.

We hope to see you at the Pioneer Circle June 8, 1990.

Game ranching okayed

By Len Gagne
Staff Writer

How do you like your Elk done?

It's not a question you hear too often, but that's about to change very soon.

The Alberta Legislature introduced the legislation bringing in game ranching under the Department of Agriculture, in the form of the Livestock Industry Diversification Act which will allow the sale of Elk meat from Elk which are raised on game ranches across the province.

Something that the approximately 120 game farmers across the province have been eagerly awaiting. But while game ranchers are celebrating, groups like the Alberta Fish and Game Association and environmentalists are crying foul.

According to Marvin Ference, a game rancher and president of the Elk Point Regional Chapter of the Alberta Game Growers Association, these groups have nothing on which to base their concerns.

Groups like the Alberta Fish and Game Association feel that game farming will increase poaching, as well as creating a disease danger for wild Elk herds, a theory that Ference dismisses.

"We're proving that our animals are disease free and there's no fear of a virus spreading from our herds to herds in the wild. And, as far as the poaching issue is concerned, it's going to take time before you see any decrease in it because we're saying that if you put our meat on the market in the next 10 to 15 years, you're going to see a decrease in the poaching."

At the moment, provincial herds of ranch Elk run around the 5,000 but, according to Ference, these numbers would have to increase to around the 100,000 mark before a constant market can be achieved.

It's these kinds of numbers that have environmentalists afraid that as an additional means of income, game ranchers will bring in a "paid hunting" program where nonresident aliens will be able to pay whatever price for a trophy animal, something that Ference disagrees with.

"Their claim has always been that for this industry to survive we're going to need paid hunting. We say different. As well as meat sales, we have brood sales as well as antler sales, and, on top of that, paid hunting is going to be illegal. We'll have our meat sales as our goal at the end of the line and that's going to take 10 to 15 years to reach."

Bob Stevenson, who is the head of Commercial Wildlife in the Wildlife Management sector of Alberta Fish and Wildlife, feels that any cause for alarm by environmentalists or the Fish and Game Association regarding poaching increases are completely unjustified.

"The herds are being monitored very closely right now and that monitoring will continue. Poaching is always a concern, and whether you have poaching or not, we'll be watching that very closely along with livestock and brand inspectors," Stevenson explained.

Another argument is that game ranchers will be able to go out in the wild and capture or even shoot additional numbers of Elk to increase their own prosperity, something that Stevenson discredits fully.

"All these animals will have a permanent registration number so, if you wanted to sell these animals as meat, you would have to take them to a designated abattoir and there would be perhaps a half-dozen of these around the province that would be set up to process wild meat."

"So, what will happen, is that the animals will be brought through and put down as you would do with a beef and then the number of that animal will be recorded and that shows up on the monthly inventory that the game farmers have and those numbers would disappear."

Alberta Fish and Game Association Senior Vice-President Dr. Niles Damgaard was obviously disappointed with the government's decision.

"They've (government) broken their word, lied or whatever you want to call it and I grew up in a province where I thought a man's word meant something but obviously it doesn't."

"The whole process has been nothing but underhanded to say the least. It has been shrouded in secrecy and its been manipulated to get it to where it is today and we've (AFGA) been fighting it for 15 years but obviously we lost."

"At least it's out on the table and people will now start to realize what a serious mistake it is."

What's news at the library?

The Elk Point Public Library Board and staff would like to welcome Lavinia Aubee to our staff as Summer Program Coordinator. The theme of the Summer Reading Program this year is Dive For A Book. Come in and say hello to Lavinia!

Storytime on Friday morning at 10:30 featured Goldilocks and the Three Bears in the puppet theatre. The children gave a big hand to the puppets.

NEW BOOKS:

Set primarily in North Carolina, Early From The Dance by David Payne is a southern novel in the grand tradition. This story is beautifully told about first love and youth and friendship, and what happens when they collide in the lives of Adam, Cary and Jane.

Regards From The Dead Princess by Kenzie Mourad-this historical novel begins in January 1918, in Istanbul, capital of the Ottoman Empire. At the centre of this story is Princess Selma, the beautiful granddaughter of Mourad V, the last in a line of sultans who ruled Turkey for six centuries.

How you can help save the planet by responsible shopping that won't cost the earth: The Canadian Green Consumer Guide is now available in the library with suggestions.

Bridging The Global Gap: A handbook to linking citizens of the first and third worlds. Medea Benjamin and Andrea Freedman describe a project of global exchange.

NEW VIDEOS

On May 29, 1953, Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay became the first men to conquer Mount Everest. They risked their lives for the honor of standing where no human had ever been before: at the summit of the highest mountain peak in the world.

Now, more than 30 years later, this National Geographic video shows Hillary and his climbing partner return to Everest to celebrate their historic ascent. Complete with breathtaking footage from the 1953 expedition, Return To Everest is a tribute to the brave men who tamed this famous mountain, as well as the Sherpa people of Nepal who helped these pioneers to achieve their goal. Time approx. 60 mins.

The many shoppers who searched through the tables of treasures large and small at Elk Point United Church's Yard Sale last Friday got a suntan to go with their bargains, as the weatherman cooperated with the church members and provided a fine day for the well attended event.

ELECTRICITY: AN OUTRAGEOUSLY GOOD BARGAIN!

If you set out to wow the world with the world's most wow hairdo, don't worry. No matter how long it takes you, it'll only cost pennies to create.

You can operate a blow dryer for just six cents an hour, a curling iron for less than a cent an hour.

And, when it comes to looks, look at these bargains: a 275-watt sunlamp runs for under two cents an hour, a 1100-watt clothes iron for about six cents, and a 6,000-watt clothes dryer for about 35 cents an hour.

In a day and age when the cost of just about everything seems so high, electricity is still a great bargain.

Applying for student financial aid

By John Drobot

MLA, St. Paul Constituency

As a post-secondary student, or the parent of a post-secondary student, you may be wondering just how the Student Finance Board determines how much loan and grant money students are eligible for. Sometimes it may seem like a lottery—you throw your application in and hope you get ball number seven.

I've had a few people asking about this, so I want to take some time to explain how it works.

The first part is fairly easy. To qualify, the student must be an Alberta resident enrolled full-time at a recognized educational institution. Students must also demonstrate academic progress, which means if they've already been studying for a while, they must show they've passed at least 60 percent of the full course load each year to receive continued funding.

The complex part—the part that determines how much you get—is called demonstrating financial need.

The amount of financial assistance a student is eligible for is determined using a formula which subtracts the student's resources from his or her educational costs.

Educational costs are the sum of tuition and compulsory fees, books, supplies, living costs, and babysitting and medical costs if necessary. The Finance Board has set amounts paid out for each of these expenses, such as $350 for monthly living expenses for students living at home, and $615 for single students away from home.

Students are expected to contribute to their education by working full-time when not enrolled in school and saving in accordance with their earnings. The savings the Student Finance Board expects are based on a budget of living and working expenses of $725 per month.

For example, if a single student living away from home worked all four months of the summer and earned $4200, expected savings would be $4200 minus ($\725×4) equals $1300 that summer. Special provisions apply to students who try and fail to find summer work, and for students who choose to take the summer off.

Other resources include parental and spousal contributions. Dependent students are expected to receive contributions from their parents. The definition of a dependent student varies under the Canadian Student Loans Program and provincial assistance programs, both of which contribute to the maximum available assistance for students studying in the province.

Parental contributions vary according to the parents' income. For example, combined earnings of $40,000 necessitate a $2000 contribution. Higher contributions can be required if parents own a business or farm worth more than $250,000.

Spouses are expected to contribute an amount equal to the net income from employment, less $200 per month.

Other resources included in the assessment are part-time employment income over $200 per month, academic awards over $600, income from financial resources and ownership of a vehicle worth more than $5000.

On May 1, the total amount an undergraduate can be eligible for rose from $4300 to $5000 per academic year, and from $6800 to $7500 for graduate level or professional students.

Additional compensation is available for students in special circumstances, such as students studying out of province and undergraduates who need more than $5000 because of, for example, a disability, or being a single parent.

Remission—which means forgiveness for part of a loan—is granted only if the student's debt load is high enough upon graduation that it could be tough for the student to manage. The minimum debt load to be considered for remission is $7140 for a 2-year college program and $14,270 for a 4-year university program. The student must apply to receive remission.

I hope this explanation sheds some light on a complex, standardized procedure. The Student Finance Board suggests all applications be mailed to them by June 1, as they take 4 to 6 weeks to process. If you have a particular circumstance that needs explaining, or any other question, please contact me.

If you have any questions or concerns about provincial government matters, please feel free to call or write me. In St. Paul, call Mon 9-4, 645-2743, in Elk Point call Wed. 9-4, 724-3926, or write to 503 Legislature Building, Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 2B6.

DANGEROUS WEAPON

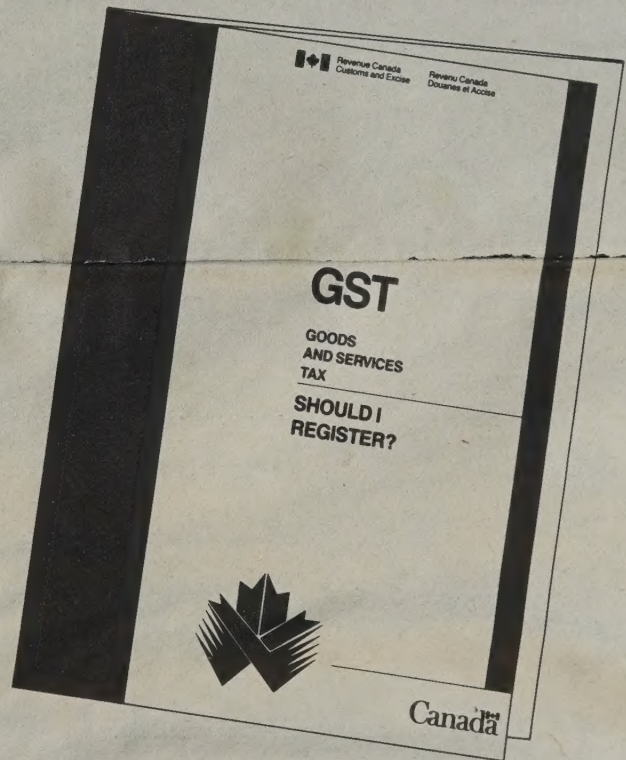

It's a handy tool to have when you're building a new fence or expanding a corral. It can also get you into deep trouble. Remember, there are more than 150,000 miles of buried facilities in Alberta—gas lines, high pressure pipelines, telephone and electric cables and more. And a good portion are located in rural Alberta, very possibly under your property.

Please, before you dig, call Alberta 1st Call at 1-800-242-3447.

What is combined driving?

Combined driving is the fastest growing equestrian sport in the world.

Combined driving is competitive driving. Like the three day event, it is divided into three phases. Phase A is dressage, where horse, carriage, rider and groom are judged on turnout, general impression, cleanliness, suitability of horse to carriage, suitability of dress to vehicle, and fit and cleanliness of harness. In the dressage portion, each entry drives on a patterned test in a rectangular arena, and is judged on the quality of the paces, the obedience and harmony of the horse, and the driver's expertise and command of the horse.

Phase B is the marathon, covering approximately twenty-seven kilometres of roads and tracks. The final section of the marathon includes five to eight obstacles called hazards. This is the most exciting and dangerous portion of the competition, as the driver must negotiate these obstacles as quickly, efficiently, and safely as possible. The marathon, much like the cross-country phase of the Three Day Event, tests the training and conditioning of the horses and the skill and judgement of the driver.

The final phase, Phase C, is obstacle driving. Often referred to as "driving the cones," competitors maneuver between sets of traffic cones that barely allow room for passage of the vehicle. The object is to drive the course in correct sequence without knocking down or displacing any cones.

Watch for upcoming articles pertaining to an introduction to this sport which will take place Saturday, June 16, 1990 at the Elk Point and District Light Horse Association property.
